

FIRST ANNUAL High Heels for High Hopes Fashion Event

Benefiting The National Kidney Foundation of the Delaware Valley

The Date: Thursday, April 26, 2007

The Time: 6:30pm-9:30pm

The Place: The Waterford Ballroom at the Radisson in King of Prussia, PA

Over two hundred business professionals strapped on their heels for an exciting evening of fashion, networking and education. Guests browsed a variety of vendors such as Mary Kay Cosmetics, Beijo Bags and Kitty Mace Jewelry, heard a heart-warming story from a couple faced with kidney disease, and indulged in gourmet catering and signature drinks. They also enjoyed salsa entertainment performed by Sonya Elmore and Jose Maldonado from La Luna Dance Studio, the art of belly dancing from Lurainya of Moon Gypsy, and a formal fashion show presented by Milla by Mail, Camileon Heels and top designer Sue Wong. All fashions were enhanced by the services of DNA Salon.

Additional event highlights included celebrity appearances from Kia Steave-Dickerson of TLC's "Trading Spaces," Maria Boren of NBC's popular reality series "The Apprentice," Tiffany Hill, morning show host on B101 FM radio, and Miss Meghan, shoe guru and acclaimed author of "The Perfect Fit, What Your Shoes Say About You."

The National Kidney Foundation of the Delaware Valley is thrilled to have the support of the following companies: Wolf Block, WFIL AM/WNTP, PhillyFIT Magazine, FOX 29, Furia Rubel Communications, Jones Apparel Group, CEO Think Tank, HSBC, Tiffany & Co., BPG Properties and SEI Investments.

NKFDV would like to thank all sponsors, vendors, celebrity guests, volunteers and attendees who made the first annual High Heels for High Hopes a well-heeled event!

The community has successfully raised $32,000 for the one in nine Americans battling kidney disease.
